Description

It seems to me that Quassel is too colourful. Bright green/pink/red/blue everywhere... Just does not look very pleasing to the eye, I think.
Would be nice if that could be reduced a bit, so it is more subtle.

It is reasonable to assign different colors for different actions. The color contrast of bright colors on white is not always optimal.

However, you can tune color settings in Configure colors dialog.

Quassel will at some point be fully themeable using qss stylesheets. We could then provide a sensible default, and maybe a couple of other presets too, and users can tweak the look how they please.

- Target version set to 0.5.0

As of 0.5.0 we support mentioned qss stylesheets.
Some better defaults might be a good idea but the general "issue" seems fixed.
