Description

Id love to be able to hover over the tray icon and get a preview of the channel I was in when I minimized to tray. This would be great for just quickly checking for new messages if you wanted to monitor the channel. :D

I take it you want a full-size hover image of the current ChatView, rather than a thumbnail of Quassel?

Might also be interesting for previewing channels.
But the effort to show a full blown preview might be more than expected.
Maybe just show who said something how often. A short summary of the events.

Rather than showing a preview of the current chat, wouldn't it make more sense to show pertinent information in a tooltip?

Something like...

    New notifications: 3
    New Queries: 7
    New lines in active buffer: 57

rather than the current tooltip of 'Quassel IRC'?
